

Dreams of cheerfulegg Readers – organized by age

Early twenties (19-23)

Travel

- I really want to travel across Europe/North America in comfort for a month at least
- doing things I enjoy doing ranging from traveling country to country to learn new things and meet new people especially the TED conference held in the US
- I will want to travel to at least one country per year such as Germany, New Zealand etc.

Property

- To afford a 4-room HDB flat near to a MRT Station, To visit 7 wonders of the world
- I want to own a good class bungalow in Bukit Timah, with a really big swimming pool!
- Buy a whole block of Condo along Orchard Road for my family and me. This move is pretty much Peter Lim inspired. It will be nice to have everyone staying together in close proximity enjoying the same luxuries.
- I will also want to have a 3 room HDB flat in Tampines near Tampines mall. My house will be custom design to make it like its not a typical singaporean house and i will want to get a toyota 7 seater car.

Other awesome dreams

- I will wish to stay college debt free and being able to completely achieve financial independent without the help of my parents.
- me and the husband desperately want to sleep in aircon again. It would be the single most expensive purchase we've ever had to make.
- I'm currently saving up for a maserati, sounds rather impractical lol

Mid-twenties (24-26)

Travel

- I wish to travel around the world with people that I loved as long as I could without worrying about money and employment.
- I would love to travel far, frequently, and generously. to be specific, i hope to afford a two week trip to NY and SF for my honeymoon; backpack through china, mongolia and russia with my husband-to-be; and also go for our pilgrimage to mecca together with my parents and future in-laws.
- I want to take one year break and travel around the world.
- It would be my own private jet. It'll help me fulfill my dreams of traveling around the world, and I can always sell it off later to buy a house when I choose to settle down.
- I would love visit Europe (for at least half a year or up to few years, need not stay at hotels, but hostel will do, even I have the money), Egypt, Bhutan, Pulau Sipadan (get a diving cert prior this), south africa, south pole, Ireland for Aurora...and back to NZ for road trip and set up hostel there.
- I WOULD RETIRE EARLY AND TRAVEL THE WORLD!

Property

- Own a bungalow house at suburb, 1 or two storeys. I don't need the house to be huge, but it has to have a lot of land around so that I can plant edible plants (apple, peach, orange if temperate countries, chiku, papaya, mangosteen at tropical climate)
- I will like to buy a landed property and also a condo at orchard area and of course open a gundam modeling shop.
- I would buy a 4 - room flat and renovate it the way I like it to be... modern and sleek.
- A really big house at sentosa cove with preferably a basement garage where i can park my 458 Italia, Aventador, SLS AMG, Lexus LFA, GTR etc together. It will also have my personal dock for me to berth my own yacht with personal jet ski.
- I want a villa at the countryside with its own private pool and travel the world by bicycle.

Other awesome dreams

- I want a portfolio to retire on dividends
- I want to have business/shop all over the world
- I want a Maserati GranTurismo! I like cars that look gentlemanly but turn into a beast with a flick of a switch. The Maserati, Aston Martin and Jaguars fall in that category.

Late twenties (27-29)

Travel

- Travel to London to watch shows twice a year (~$5k per trip). Loft apartment overlooking central park. (~$1 mil USD)
- One month holiday trip around Australia and New Zealand
- I would want to have 4 kids, travel all around the world, and help out those people in need of the basic necessities as much as I can. And If I still have any money left after that, I'll save the dolphin after that
- I would travel around the entire world if I can afford it. My wife, age 29, would wanna be a full time artist(painter) - her passion, and travel the world with me. ie. visiting EVERY SINGLE COUNTRY.
- Travelling coupled with out of this world experiences like jumping off any high place or swimming with sharks or climbing an ice glacier or zipping through a rainforest zipline or learning to surf and climb natural rock faces etc
- I would want to be able to live overseas (eg. Vancouver) for a period like at least 3 months every year.
- I want to travel the world, with at least one flight on a business/first class. Been hoping to be bumped up when I was studying, but never did happen :P

Property

- 4 bedroom house along the banks of Dalkeith, Perth Western Australia; that's if I have at least A$3M in today's dollars.
- I'm looking forward to having my own exec 3 room condo. I'd also like to be able to start my own business in 2 years and not rely on a job just to earn a living.
- I want to own a 4 room condo in orchard road
- Acquire x2 one bedroom condo apartment at balestier area. 1 for long term lease, the other for short term lease.
- (i) own a house without any debt (ii) travel the world (iii) retire soon.
- would be at least 2 houses so that i could live in 1 and rent out the rest for a good passive income.
- I really want to own my own apartment. I've wanted this since 18yrs old, and I've been saving for it since then. Hopefully when I turn 35* I can buy one without incurring too much debt. (*35 or if I can afford a condo before then)
- I would like to buy a 3 bed room apartment near MRT location with swimming pool and gym amenities.
- I dream to own at least a semi-d in Singapore. It cost $5mil as of 2014 July.
- I wish to own my own condominium which is accessible and near to my workplace (which means somewhere central).

Other awesome dreams

- I would like to have a Range Rover, a Harley Davidson, a landed property with a pool near a train station, to be able to finance overseas education of 2 children for college and university, go on vacations to exotic countries twice a year and stay in exotic hotels/villas (2-3 weeks per trip), organize and sponsor at least one missions trip per year to under-developed countries and sponsor a child overseas

Early thirties (30-33)

Property

- A property fully paid up in a clean peaceful neighborhood with convenient amenities and transport (ideally a spacious private apartment on a high floor with unblocked view)
- I wish i am able to afford 3 apartments in the same building, so that my partner and my parents could stay together. Say... three (o_o!) 3-room condo units near a mrt.
- I would like a 2 bedroom + study apartment around district 7 (min of 800 sqft). Preferably along beach road or north bridge road...(or I'll settle for a 5 room HDB as all the condos here are tiny).

Travel

- I would want to be comfortable enough to always travel at least business class and stay at top hotels on my leisure trips (2-3 long haul a year).
- Take 3 months off work to travel

Other awesome dreams

- Give a comfort living to my parent so they can retire
- I would like to be able to debt-free and have positive cashflow forever, That I am able to support my parents and family in style. NO WORRIES about where/when the next funds will be coming in. Go on learning retreats and make things with my hands, and share my craft with the world.
- I would clear all my debts (eg hdb loan), and buy a car and invest in properties! Of coz sack my company

Mid thirties (34-36)

- What I really want is a 2-bedroom apartment in a good location with easy access to the MRT & retail/food outlets. I'd probably rent it out.
- I dream to build my own 3-storied semi-D, with a roof garden and a basement to house my snooker table, with a Benz ML-350 parked at the porch
- landed property in kl - corner house (2 storeys), 4 bedrooms with garden. Approx 3000 sq feet. guarded and gated. price range now is around 2 mil rm.
- I would like to build 2 indoor tennis courts so that I can play or coach on my own courts.
- I wanna buy a vineyard! Either in Napa or Barossa Valley.
- I would like to have 1 husband, 2 properties and 3 kids. Even if I hv all the money in the world, I don't know how to buy this.
- I'd love to migrate to Australia in the country side, have 2 kids, grow a home based business in food or beauty industry and continue investments.

40 and above

- I just wish that I can have a huge bungalow(I like space) with a garden, pond with beautiful fish and pool(not bathtub size) to retire in. Of course, the property must be fully paid for and I must also have maids to cook and do all the housework.
- I really wish to have a bigger house, for i.e. an EM or even a 1200sqft condo at convenient location, currently staying in a 3rm HDB.
- I want to be able to afford 1800 sq ft condominium in district 10 with a cash savings of at least $500k and a BMW 5 series car.
- I would want to buy two penthouses overlooking the Marina Bay area
- I would love to own a freehold 3 rooms condo of about 1600 sq ft. Near the along east coast road so I can be near to the beach n enjoy walking there during my retirement. Will be excellent if I can own another unit of about 1100 sq ft unit to rent out and collect passive income for the rest of my life. With above I can live peacefully and also able to contribute back to society by sharing my experience with younger generation.
